Volume XII

1964

Published by the Senior Class of Orange County High School
Orange, Virginia

Foreword

It has been a year filled with moments of laughter, excitement, friendship, and study. There have been many memorable events—the welcoming of Brigitte, football games, Homecoming '63, pep rallies, "College Boards," basketball games, exams, "office conferences," the Prom, and Graduation.

In words and pictures we have attempted to preserve the story of this — YOUR YEAR. May you cherish our record, and in years to come recall with pleasure and sentiment the year 1963-'64.

Orange County High School

We, the Seniors of 1964, proudly and affectionately dedicate Volume XII of The Golden Horseshoe to you, Miss Thelma Leah Kean.

We shall never forget your unselfishness in giving of your time and talent to help make our Junior-Senior Prom possible.

Your guidance and understanding of young people will have a lasting effect upon all who have had the privilege of knowing you.

The loyalty and dedication shown by you to your profession will serve as an inspiration and an incentive to all of us.

TODAY YOU SAVED A CHILD'S LIFE

Yes, it's YOU we're speaking to . . . and a man in his eighties or a teen-ager with a rare disease is living a normal life today because of you.

Maybe you've never seen these people, but they owe their lives to you. The blood you donated last week and last year gave them life and hope.

We'd like for you to tell your friends how easy and painless it is to donate blood. Perhaps they, too, would like to give the gift of life itself.
